Tutoring

Tutoring is available at the Center for Academic Success (CAS) and online through SMARTHINKING. The goal of CAS is to provide quality academic assistance and support classroom instruction through several academic support services to foster students' overall academic success. SMARTHINKING offers online tutoring in the following areas:

- Writing
- Math
- Science
- Nursing
- Other subjects that can be accessed through Canvas, CSN's online learning environment

For more information, including hours and campus locations, visit our Centers for Academic Success website: <https://www.csn.edu/centers-academic-success>

Advising

Advisors/Success Coaches provide advising services to you if you are a First-time college student without transfer credits, an undecided student without a declared major, or an Associate of General Studies (AGS) student. They will help you build a first-term schedule and choose a suitable program based on your unique skills and interests. If you are doing poorly in school, thinking of withdrawing from a class or dropping out of CSN, meet with an Advisor/Success Coach for assistance in the following:

- Determine the root of your problem
- Develop a personal action plan
- Sign up for academic support assistance, such as tutoring
- Learn college success and study strategies
- Develop a personal support network of guidance and advocacy

For more information, including hours and campus locations, visit our Advising website:
